A STAGNANT MARKET Heavy Tone in Morning with Some Hardening Later in Day.

New York, Feb. 15.—Reading was the only one of the stock market leadmove today more than a frac-from last week's close. That stock was under pressure during the morning and lost a point, but made it up in the afternoon. The market moved with Reading. The tone was moved with Reading. The tone was heavy in the early part of the day, and prices were cut fractionally. In the latter part of the session the list hardened. There was no sign of an awakening from the comatose condition into which the market fell last week. Its utter stagnation is indicated by the fact that during one hour of today's trading less than 13,000 shores of stock changed hands, the lowest figures for an hour's business in months. Quotations at the close n months. Quotations at the close were barely changed on the day. The pressure against Reading, apparently, was due to bear selling on the idea that the supreme court might render its decision in the anthracite case. With several other important cases pending in the supreme court, there was a disposition among the trading element to await word from Washington whether decisions were to be made in any of the cases in which most interest is felt in Wall The copper stocks showed continued
